

AFO 615 – Define system messages

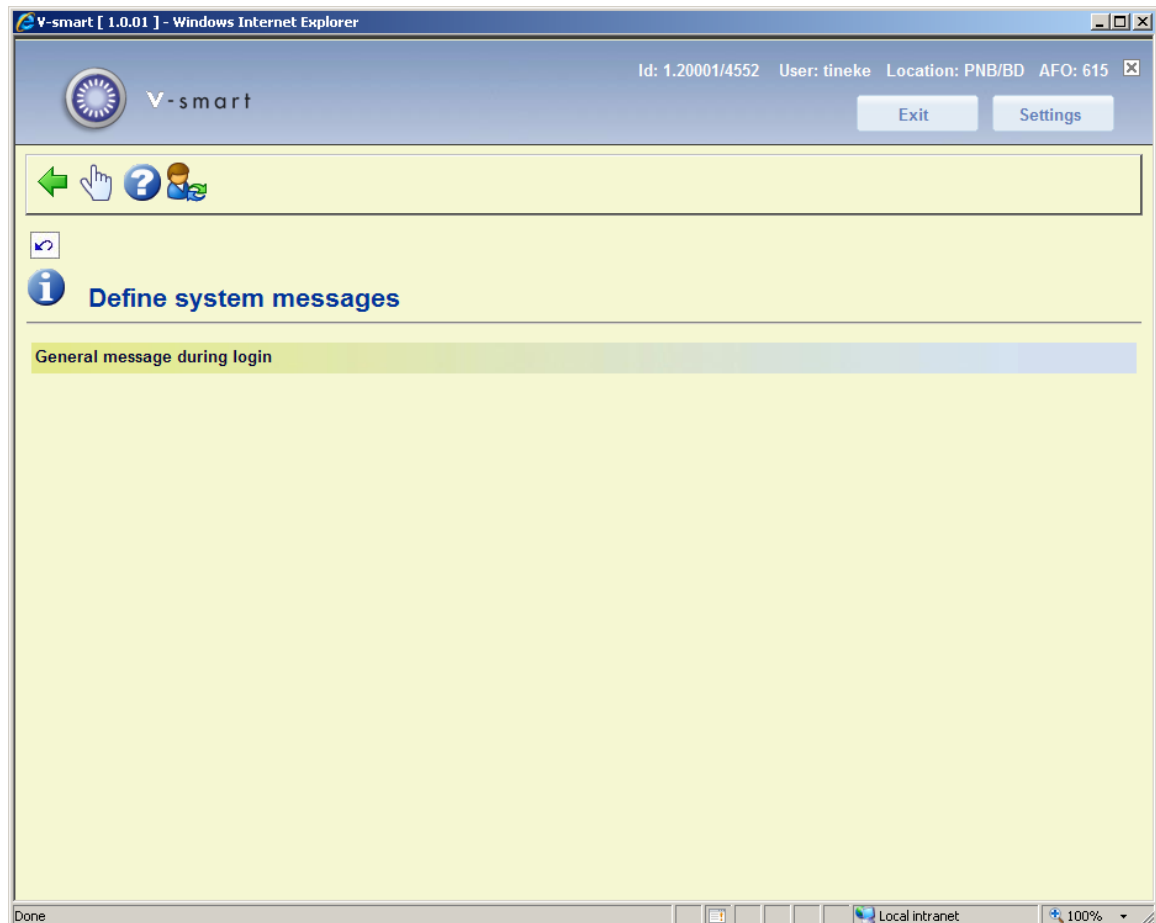

615.1 Introduction

On the start screen of V-smart there are two types of messages displayed.

The message at the top of the screen is defined by the system administrator via the V-smart Preferences. See the introduction to V-smart for more information.

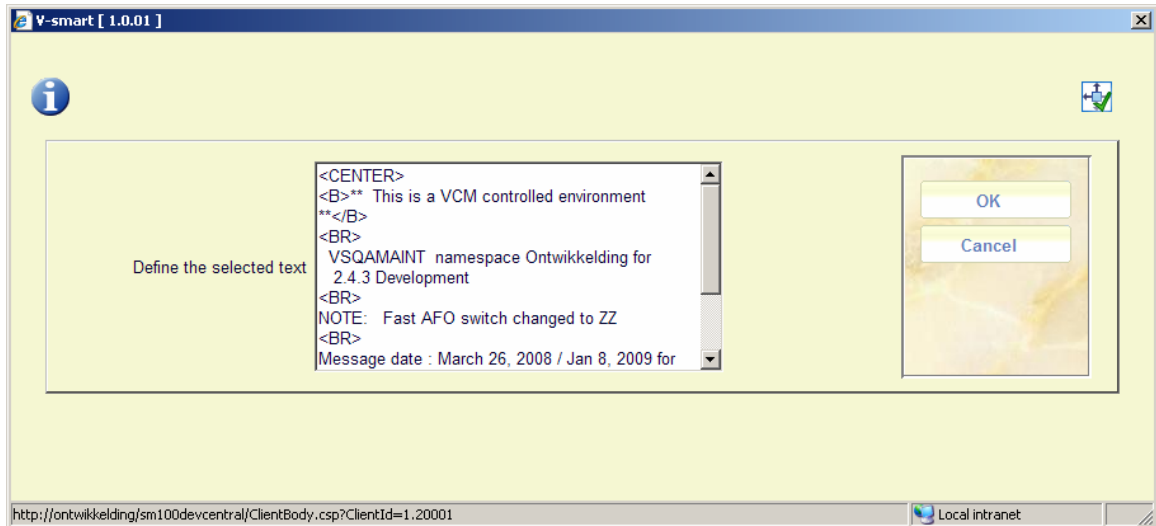

With AFO 615 you can define the message that appears at the bottom of the start screen.

When you start AFO 615, a menu appears:

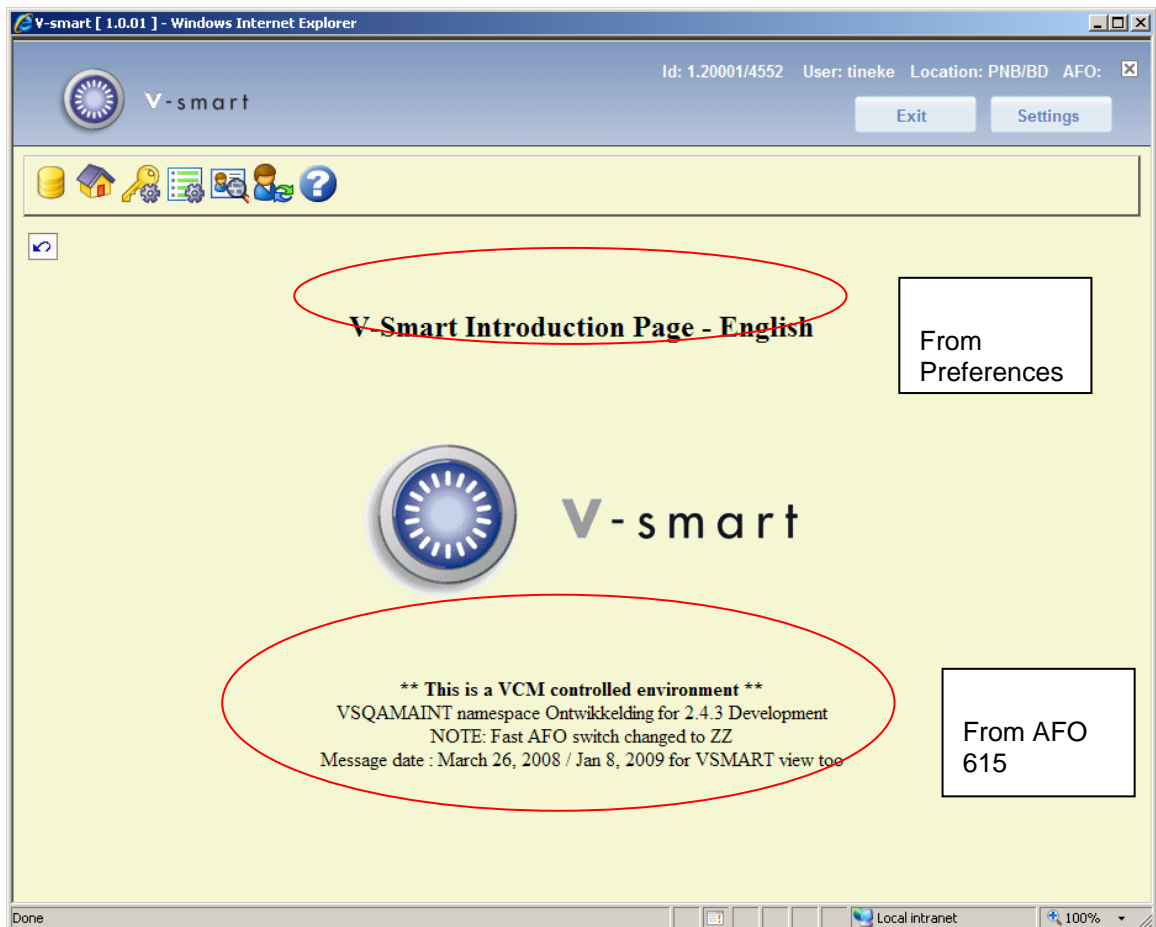

General message during login

When you select this option an input form appears:

Input the required text. You can use HTML code to format the text.

The result:

- Document control - Change History

Version	Date	Change description	Author
1.0	April 2008	creation
2.0	January 2009	now also applicble to V-smart
